

CHINA

BEIJING

China's capital is rich in history and tradition. Beijing is the center of Chinese art, culture, and politics for centuries and home to many of the world's most important heritage sites. Beijing has a vibrant youth scene with the ultra-modern Sanlitun shopping village and the 798 Art District, home to CRCC Asia's Beijing Program accommodation.

As the capital, Beijing has a high concentration of Embassies, Chambers of Commerce and NGOs, as well as multinational firms doing business and navigating relations with the government.

CRCC Asia

Beijing has the second highest concentration of Fortune 500 companies in the world behind Tokyo.

Beijing's Forbidden City is the largest palace in the world, and the Great Wall outside the city is the world's longest wall.
