Ongoing Dependent Eligibility Verification

We realized how important verification is when we had an employee try to claim that his sister was also his wife, and the employee was terminated.

A dependent eligibility verification process would have warned the employee and he may not have been so reckless.

A formal process for dependent eligibility verification helps ensure employees enroll only the dependents they are legally allowed to enroll and saves employers money.

Seamless Integration
The verification process is simple and integrated with the enrollment process

Security
We keep data in a secure, HIPAA compliant manner

Easy for Administration
Uses built in administrative approval and communication systems to make the process simple and easy to use

You can take TWO STEPS
1. Do the math – we can help
2. Develop a simple, dependent verification cost control plan
