

A global curriculum, simplified

EF Education First's commitment to Opening the World Through Education is stronger than ever. And it's a goal that reverberates through EF College Study, too. That's why our short-term, faculty-led study abroad programs are informed by our close collaborations with academic institutions, curated by educators, and backed by a global network and world-renowned partnerships.

We believe that travel, in and of itself, is an educational platform that helps fuel lifelong growth

We believe that global competencies, like adaptability and empathy, are crucial in today's world

We believe that life-changing experiences can happen in 10 to 14 days

A pathway to global citizenship

Our custom, scalable short-term study abroad programs help our institutional partners maximize travel and skill-building opportunities for students of all backgrounds and minimize some common campus challenges—a critical step in creating the next generation of global citizens and leaders.

Recruitment and retention

Our Program Consultants can help create accessible and sustainable programs that are attractive to emerging demands of students

International curricula

Give your curricula the chance to go global through diverse learning opportunities and new tools that internationalize learning

Employability

Experiences abroad can help students develop crucial skills for the internationalized marketplace

Academic, personal, and professional impact

With educators at the helm, comprehensive outcome assessments, and a long-held belief in experiential learning, EF College Study is uniquely positioned to help students develop intellectually, personally, and professionally through travel. This, in turn, prepares them for an increasingly connected workforce and world.

The EF difference

Education is multifaceted. That's why our study abroad programs are designed to deliver diverse and holistic learning opportunities. We've added pre-and post-program outcome assessments, flexible itineraries, and course integration tools to help your program better align to your goals.

A Global Competencies Assessment and Learning Tool, via a third-party research institution, measures and guides development of intercultural skills before, during, and after travel

World-class industry engagement experiences, like business visits, workshops, and panels of experts, can be added to help bring a field of study to life through hands-on engagement

Access to our team of educators—a group of Ph.D. scholars and researchers, who lead our academic strategy and help design our itineraries and complementary learning tools

Expert In-Country Directors, who work with faculty to identify learning moments on the ground

Scalable and simplified for any college campus

With over 160 offices in over 120 countries, plus partnerships with prominent international leaders, EF offers affordable travel, local experiences, and on-the-ground safety and support for your students.

Accessible

EF's extensive scale and network makes travel affordable

Safe and secure

Our $50M General Liability Policy and global network support you no matter where in the world you travel

Connected

EF College Study partners with prestigious organizations around the world, like the Nobel Prize Museum and Harvard Graduate School of Education

Convenient

EF College Study takes care of the trip logistics so your faculty can focus on student learning and outcomes

Development for students and faculty

The benefits of short-term study abroad can extend to your faculty, too. We deliver professional development opportunities for faculty members, like fully funded trainings, orientation and development seminars, conventions, and networking opportunities with educators from around the country.
