DEFINING VALUE OF THE CONFERENCE

The COMMON Focused Education Series on RPG, PHP and Application Modernization conference offers the best value of any other commercial conference in the industry. Here are some of the ways we define value:

- Nearly 25 educational sessions presented by expert speakers
- Registration rate of only $550 for members if you register by January 22nd
- Two-day conference in Tampa, FL – minimized time out of the office and travel costs
- Hotel rate of $150 per night at Sheraton Tampa Riverwalk
- Access to leading vendor products and solutions in Expo to supplement your education
- Invaluable networking opportunities with peers, speakers, and vendors
- Opportunity to gain a COMMON Certification for only $99

"COMMON is always evaluating whether or not we are meeting the needs of this community. We surveyed members and non-members to see what type of additional education would benefit the membership, and found there was an underserved audience that wanted in-depth education on a variety of topics, yet wanted to minimize time out of the office. Based on their responses, we have developed this Focused Education Series to offer a series of conference events throughout the year, each with a different topic focus, and each providing in-depth education from industry experts and from the vendor community. It will offer great value and ROI to attendees and benefit the overall Power Systems community,"
- Pete Massiello, Chair of the Fall Events Task Force.

EXPO OF LEADING SOLUTION PROVIDERS

The Focused Education Series on RPG, PHP and Application Modernization conference will feature a tabletop-style Expo of a limited number of exhibitors. The Expo will be open on Tuesday, February 12th and Wednesday, February 13th, allowing attendees many opportunities to supplement their education with some hands-on learning on the latest products and solutions available within the conference focus.

The limited number of tabletops will allow for more one-on-one interaction between the exhibitors and the attendees, providing a personalized environment to network and discuss their products and solutions. The Expo at any COMMON conference is a great educational environment where attendees are able to see first-hand real-world solutions that can be used to implement methods, skills and techniques they just learned in the sessions. This further adds to the value of the conference by enhancing the attendees' educational options.
