

SMITH COLLEGE

School for Social Work

Do you have an interest in working with oppressed and disadvantaged populations?

A desire to make change in the world?

A passion for social justice?

Are you thinking about graduate school?

Consider an M.S.W. or Ph.D. degree in clinical social work from the Smith College School for Social Work!

- Clinical social work focus
- A commitment to anti-racism
- A commitment to developing trans/GNC competency
- Generous financial aid packages, including full scholarships
- Low residency—classes ONLY in the summers!
- Internships throughout the U.S. from Sept–May—choose what location works for you!
- Extraordinary training opportunities
- Exceptional faculty
- 4:1 student-to-faculty ratio

Our student body is diverse in age, gender identity, racial and ethnic makeup, sexual orientation, geographic origin, educational background, professional interests, and social commitments.

Any student can find their niche here—or create their own!

We have student groups for students of color, queer and trans students of color, trans and gender nonconforming students, men, students with disabilities and more!

Ranked in the top 6% of Schools for Social Work nationally!

To learn more, contact us at sswadm@smith.edu or 413-585-7960!

SMITH COLLEGE
School for Social Work
Unique. Powerful. Extraordinary.

