Safety & Security Specialist

Millennium Tours understands that with global visits come safety concerns. While no one can guarantee safety, Millennium Tours has several health and safety measures in place. Our staff monitors current international political, social, and economic conditions and events in the program destinations. In addition, our agents and representative's in-country and onsite are available to facilitate student safety and to support them during an emergency. Millennium Tours also provides students and parents with important links related to health and safety while studying abroad, such as the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. We also register each student in the U.S. Department of State Traveler's Enrollment Program (STEP) which enrolls their trip with the nearest U.S. Embassy or Consulate.

Before departure, students receive health and safety information about their destination. Millennium Tours works closely with risk assessment experts and emergency evacuation services, and provides ongoing information, monitoring and communication to faculty leaders overseas and university coordinators in the USA. At Millennium Tours we have staff with over 10 years of safety background in Homeland Security and military training that are responsible for risk assessment. We want every one of our travelers to have a lifetime's worth of memories, but not at the cost of their security.

We Understand One Size Does Not Fit All

We specialize in the complete management of study abroad and MBA/EMBA programs. By managing all program logistics, assessing the pre-program risks and safety, and ensuring a high quality program at a low-cost we allow our faculty and study abroad partners to focus on what they do best – teach. We custom tailor itineraries to fit the needs of your specific program, because Millennium Tours understands that academic travel is not a one-size fits all experience. Let us offer you a stress-free travel experience, because it's our job to make your job easier.

Dear Mohib:

It was wonderful to be with you and your son earlier this month at Dr. Pepper Hour here on Baylor's beautiful campus. After you have played host to our students so many times, it was a privilege to offer you our hospitality for a change of pace.

On behalf of the faculty, staff, and students of Baylor University, please accept this word of heartfelt thanks and deep appreciation for your years of service to Baylor University. As you know, one of the University's top priorities over the past decade has been to increase the number of students participating in study abroad and mission-related programs. The success we have had in that arena depends heavily on our close work with you and your colleagues at Millennium Tours. Your experience, skills, and diligence are appreciated, but never more so than during times of crisis, such as the services you provided to us during time of the volcanic eruptions in Iceland.

In particular, though, we remember your work on behalf of Baylor University during the European blizzard just prior to Christmas, 2010. Somehow, when travel had virtually stopped throughout all of Europe, you managed to bring our students home in time for Christmas. We could not have accomplished that without your help. Thank you.

Thank you again for your work with Baylor University. Our programs offering study and service opportunities benefit immeasurably from your assistance. We look forward to many more years of collaborating with you and Millennium Tours.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mohib:

Thank you so much for coordinating our travel arrangements for the 2015 McCombs Global Connections study tour to Singapore, Malaysia and the Philippines. Overall, the trip was rated as excellent by student participants, and your role in providing as smooth travel experience was a large part of the trip's success.

Several times throughout the program you went above and beyond the call of duty. First, by traveling with us to three cities, you were there to personally ensure that everything ran smoothly. You also guaranteed that our students would be extremely satisfied by selecting excellent hotels in each city. Our hotel in Penang, Malaysia, received a perfect rating by our students, something that is unheard of in our program! Finally, you listened to our feedback during the trip and took steps to correct anything that was not perfect.

Prior to the trip, the communication with your office was consistent and thorough. I especially appreciate Zohra's tireless dedication to ensuring that all of our questions were answered and our needs were met, both before, during and after the trip.

I was very pleased with our experience using Millennium Tours for this program, and I am happy to serve as a reference for you to others.

Best Regards,
