

Welcome to Northwest Baltimore

Northwest Baltimore offers a wide variety of housing types to meet budgets of all sizes.

Northwest Baltimore is fortunate to have a wide range of natural and community resources such as Druid Hill Park and Cylburn Arboretum as well as community farms and gardens.

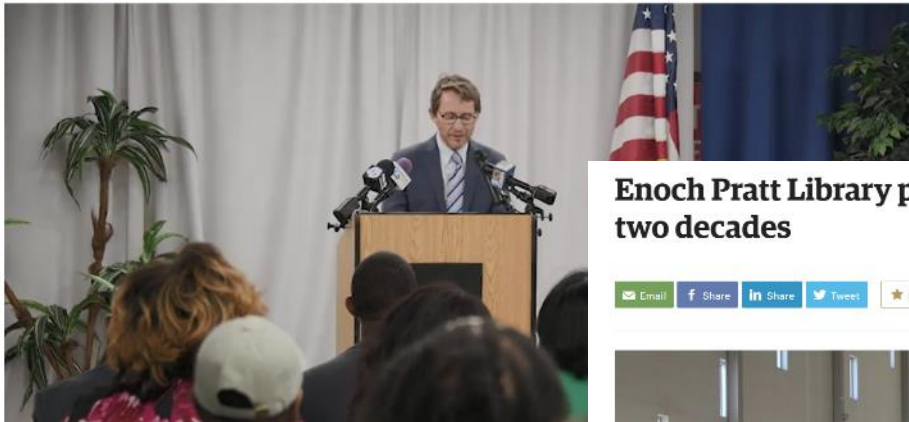

Park Heights Saints Football, Black Sox Baseball, Mt. Washington Soccer, the Jewish Community Center, sports at CC Jackson Recreation Center, and year round indoor swimming at the Callowhill Aquatic Center are just a few of the recreational opportunities for families.

Hundreds of millions of dollars in new investment is planned including the redevelopment of Pimlico Race Track, the first phase of the Park Heights redevelopment plan, expansion of Sinai Hospital, affordable/workforce housing, a new library and more.

Baltimore investing $100M to 'revitalize' 17 acres of Park Heights; city presents NHP Foundation as developer

By CATHERINE RENTZ
BALTIMORE SUN | SEP 18, 2019 | 7:09 PM

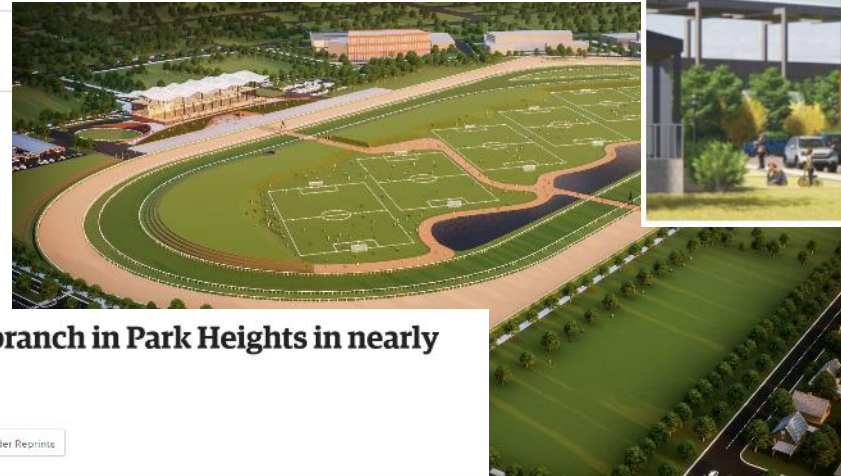

Enoch Pratt Library plots first branch in Park Heights in nearly two decades

Email f Share in Share Twee Save Print Order Reprints

RECOMMENDED

RETAILING
Best Buy beats estimates, relying on curbside and clicks for sales

The Park Heights area is pleased to have two brand new schools - Arlington Elementary and Pimlico Elementary Middle School. Construction is underway at a third school – Cross Country.

Faith-based organizations are strong and play prominent roles organizing and supporting community.

The Pimlico Merchants Association and Park Heights Chamber of Commerce coordinate businesses in the corridor and organize key projects and activities.

LifeBridge Health / Sinai Hospital supports a number of programs to improve the quality of life including a Clean and Green Team, A Safe Streets Program, a new health sciences program at Pimlico Elementary Middle School, and a housing improvement program to support seniors.

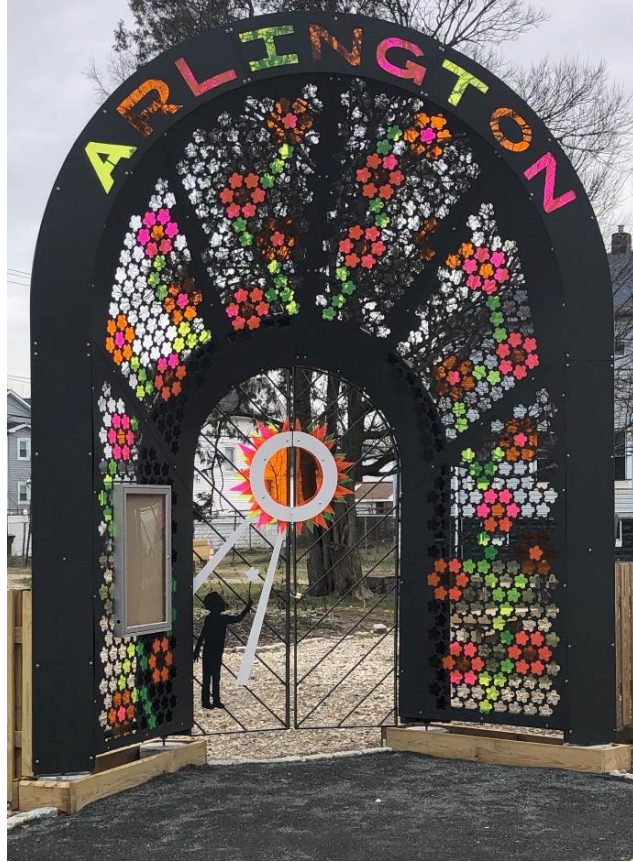

Area nonprofit organizations like At the House and the Langston Hughes Community Business Resource Center administer numerous programs and services to support youth, families, and seniors.

Park Heights Renaissance and Comprehensive Housing Assistance, Inc., help convene communities, administer programs that support schools and families, and foster new strategies to guide reinvestment activities

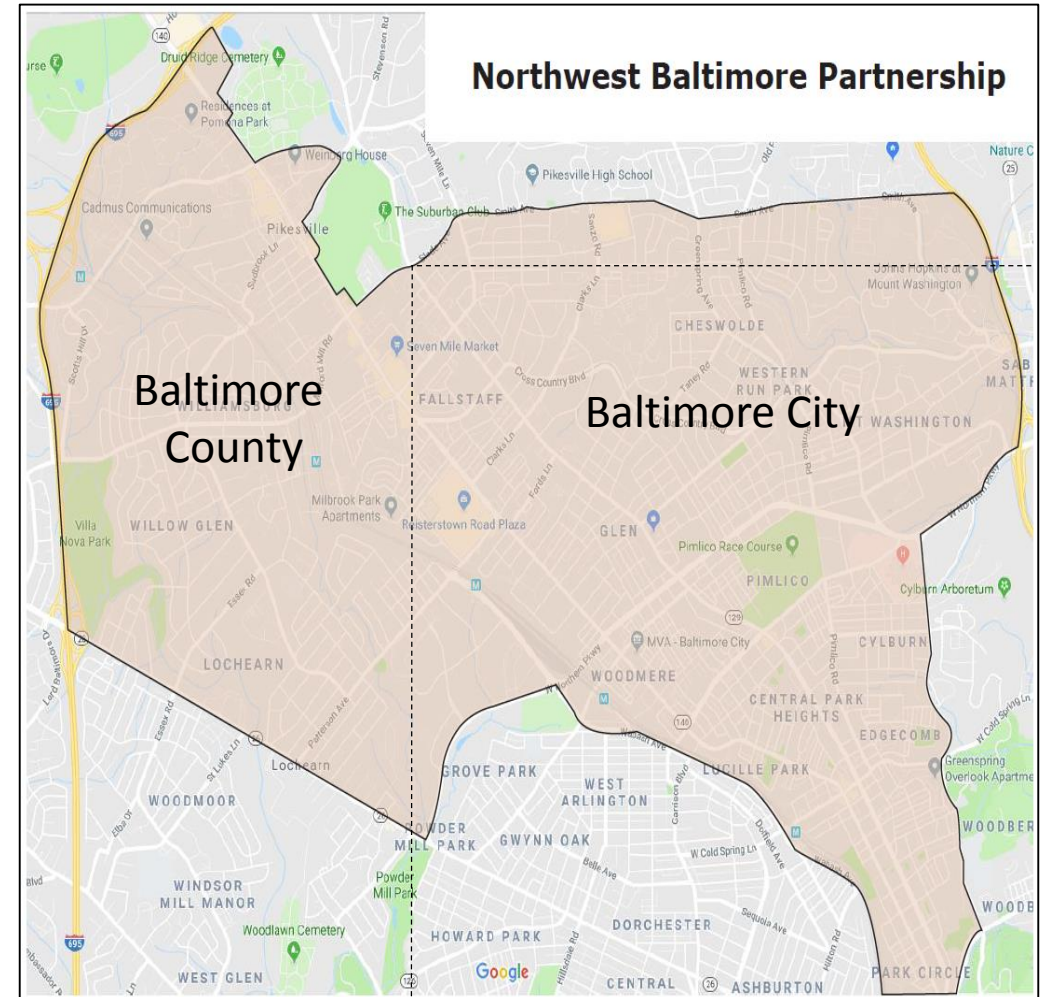

Northwest leaders also work hard to bring people together to build community and engage on key issues such the successful efforts to save the Preakness.

Northwest Baltimore Partnership convenes local organizations to coordinate efforts and “build value from Park Circle to Pikesville.”

Park Heights Renaissance
Comprehensive Housing Assistance Inc.
LifeBridge Health
Cylburn Arboretum Friends
At the House
Manna Bible Baptist Church
City of Baltimore
Baltimore County Office of the Executive
Langston Hughes Community Business Resource Center
Pikesville Owings Mills Chamber of Commerce
PNC Bank
Fulton Mortgage Company

Around the community...

Around the community...

Around the community...

Around the community...

