

CHINA

SHANGHAI

Shanghai represents modern China, leading the way in fashion, fine dining and trendy bars and clubs. Its distinctive architecture and atmosphere mixes modern day icons with the quaint and historic streets of the French Concession and old Shanghai. It remains Mainland China's financial center, with a strong presence of international companies and a thriving expat scene. There is an abundance of banks and investment, trading and accounting companies.

CRCC Asia

In 2016, China received more patent applications than the USA, Japan, South Korea, and EU patent offices, combined.

Shanghai is the economic capital of China, home of the country's international finance hub, world's largest cargo shipping port, and 157 of the country's approximately 166 industries.
