

NewsGator Social Sites 2010 dramatically improves your business performance by transforming SharePoint 2010 into a vibrant social computing hub that spawns new ideas, better decision-making and higher productivity. Social Sites 2010 consists of a base model offering powerful foundational Enterprise 2.0 capabilities such as microblogging, an aggregated activity stream, easy-to-create communities, rich desktop and email clients, and insights/analysis.

Integrating Social Sites 2010 into your SharePoint 2010 deployment lets you deliver value to your users without building custom applications, introducing additional technologies, or creating disparate silos of data. Increase SharePoint adoption among stakeholders, streamline communication, improve employee retention, shorten time to proficiency, and boost overall productivity.

Leverage and Maximize SharePoint with Social Sites

Social Sites 2010 is built into SharePoint 2010 as a scalable, managed service application allowing you to maximize the benefits of your SharePoint investment. As a managed service application, Social Sites 2010 can accommodate your growing needs with simple plug-and-play solution packages that extend the solution's capabilities. NewsGator, with its continued leadership in the social computing industry, can guide you down the path towards Enterprise 2.0 success, helping you reap the benefits of social networking and collaboration.

Social Sites 2010 Base Solution

SharePoint 2010

We leverage SharePoint document repositories, security and authentication model – as well as wikis, blogs, tagging and rating, and bookmarking – out of the box. Seamlessly integrated, we extend the SharePoint collaboration platform with E2.0 capabilities that drive adoption and improve user experience.

Social Profiles

NewsGator eliminates the friction and fear of social networking by jump-starting adoption, participation, contributions, and collaboration with a simple profile-building coach to help your workforce create and maintain individual social profiles – their face to the organization.

Aggregated Activity Stream

The activity stream aggregates and pumps a continuous flow of user-generated content and system level activity to provide users with relevant and timely insights. It collects and filters events from Social Sites with those from SharePoint, external social media streams (e.g., Twitter, LinkedIn), and other internal and third-party applications.

Microblogging

This intuitive conversation tool is the consummate way to allow for spontaneous knowledge sharing. Built specifically for professional use, it helps your organization avoid the costs and overhead of another third-party solution while also providing peace of mind. You know your organizational conversations are secure and housed in your SharePoint environment.

Q&A

Create your questions directly within the activity stream from the Web, email, your mobile device, or desktop client. Target users and groups directly, or let Social Sites intelligently alert users who have declared particular areas of expertise. Questions and answers are automatically stored in SharePoint lists and indexed for search.

Communities

Communities establish and cultivate a collaborative setting for your internal and external stakeholders. Turn SharePoint groups into Social Sites communities of practice for projects and initiatives, or create places for colleagues to connect about common interests and best practices. Templates are available to kick-start your community planning.

Social Insights

Protect and expand your investment by measuring and tracking activity by community, type, and user. Easy-to-consume dashboards and monthly activity reports allow you to evaluate user adoption and participation levels.

Desktop and Email Clients

Our desktop client allows you to participate in the Social Sites environment without being inside the platform. Filter activity stream by top news, questions, ideas, topics, communities, or colleagues to quickly find the information you need. Similar to accessing the activity stream through your Web browser, the desktop client allows you to ask and answer questions, post, comment, and like.

Add-on Solution Packages

Optional add-on solution packages to Social Sites 2010 stream internal and external news feeds, foster innovation, help surface expertise, recognize and reward users, enable on-the-fly video sharing, and provide mobile access to your geographically-dispersed knowledge workers.

Implementation, Professional, and Business Consulting Services

NewsGator offers a series of unique services that allow us to guide you down the Enterprise 2.0 path to arrive at a solution perfectly tailored to your needs. By customizing Social Sites to meet your specific requirements, you can increase your business results. If you have ideas to further differentiate your organization from the competition, we can help make those ideas a reality with our customization services. Services include consulting for pilot success, enterprise deployment, and user adoption. NewsGator can also help with data integration and migration, custom development, user experience enhancements, reporting, user documentation, and user training.
