Internet-of-Things (IoT) solutions frequently assume that our daily lives are based on predictable routines. However, life at home is frequently improvised and messy.

In late June 2019 Telefonica holds a highly immersive workshop on IoT in daily life.

This webinar provides first hand insights and results from this workshop. Join us for a discussion on

- how to better understand everyday needs and practices.
- how to give people more control over their lives, rather than just more devices.
- what kind of IoT solutions make a difference on life at home.
