

Reinventing the way you collaborate:

YouSendIt's business content collaboration suite

Your team, customers and partners are global — and constantly on the move. Each day you collaborate on mission-critical content in many forms: presentations, contracts, sales materials, display ads, video and audio files — and more. The speed of business today requires that your team quickly share content, reach consensus and efficiently advance projects.

Collaborating simply is a necessity. The key to successfully collaborating on business content is to have a tool set that enhances existing processes, that's easy to use, without forcing teams and work groups to re-engineer the way they normally work. Otherwise, collaboration breaks down and every wasted minute impacts your bottom line.

Email: Ubiquitous but imperfect

Email remains the primary collaboration tool for most businesses — whether a one-person consultancy or a Fortune 100 company. The average corporate user spends substantially more time using email than the telephone, instant messaging and social networking tools combined. Furthermore, email is the primary method for transporting digital files of all types inside and outside an organization, with 98 percent of email traffic including attachments, according to a recent survey by Osterman Research .

While email is ubiquitous and easy to use, it's imperfect as a collaboration tool. Delivery of messages with attachments can be delayed or bounced-back because of size limits; email servers get clogged by attachments and are costly to maintain; and there is no way to track whether an email reached its recipient. But email's major deficiency is that it does not afford users a place to collaborate together on business content. There is no single place to access the latest versions of files.

Business content collaboration made simple and secure

YouSendIt simplifies the way businesses of all sizes collaborate on content, using the email workflows knowledge workers already know. More than 23 million users in 193 countries leverage YouSendIt's proven cloud-computing platform to easily share files and collaborate anywhere from any device.

By tightly integrating with the most commonly used productivity and design applications, business users send, share and access files with the ease of email. Team members apply e-signatures and store an unlimited amount of content in the cloud, with the latest versions of files and folders synced and accessible by business partners on both sides of the corporate firewall.

YouSendIt makes email work better, providing a true collaboration platform. Business partners share content and store revised files in the cloud for instant access anytime from anywhere on any device.

Collaborate on the go

A true business content collaboration solution must be available to workers on the go anytime, anywhere.

More than 41 percent of knowledge workers worldwide use mobile solutions to get work done at the office, at home and on the move, according to a recent Forrester Research forecast. Equally telling is that 62 percent of information workers spend an hour each day working on documents, reports and other business content.

YouSendIt makes business content available on any device. Mobile workers can send files, share folders and sign documents with just a few taps on their smartphone or tablet wherever they are.

YouSendIt provides enterprise-grade security that is missing from many cloud-based collaboration alternatives. With file expiry, user authentication, encryption of data in transit and at rest, identity verification and integration with Microsoft's Active Directory, YouSendIt meets and exceeds IT's mandate for security.

Business benefits

Organizations require a business content collaboration solution that is reliable and delivers measurable benefits. YouSendIt provides businesses with:

- Increased productivity by enabling faster and easier sharing and management of time-sensitive files without changing your current workflow;
- Reduced costs by eliminating FTP servers, CDS, stacks of paper and expensive couriers to transfer large files;
- Improved email performance to expedite business processes and shortened work cycles;
- Simple, anywhere, anytime access to critical business content;
- Iron-clad security for files in transit and in storage;
- Built-in tracking and reporting for compliance and auditing; and
- Minimal IT administration, support or training.

A collaboration solution for every size business

YouSendIt allows organizations of any size to collaborate easily, intuitively and instantly. Whether your business has five people or 50,000, YouSendIt streamlines the way you collaborate on content inside and outside your company.

Send large files with ease

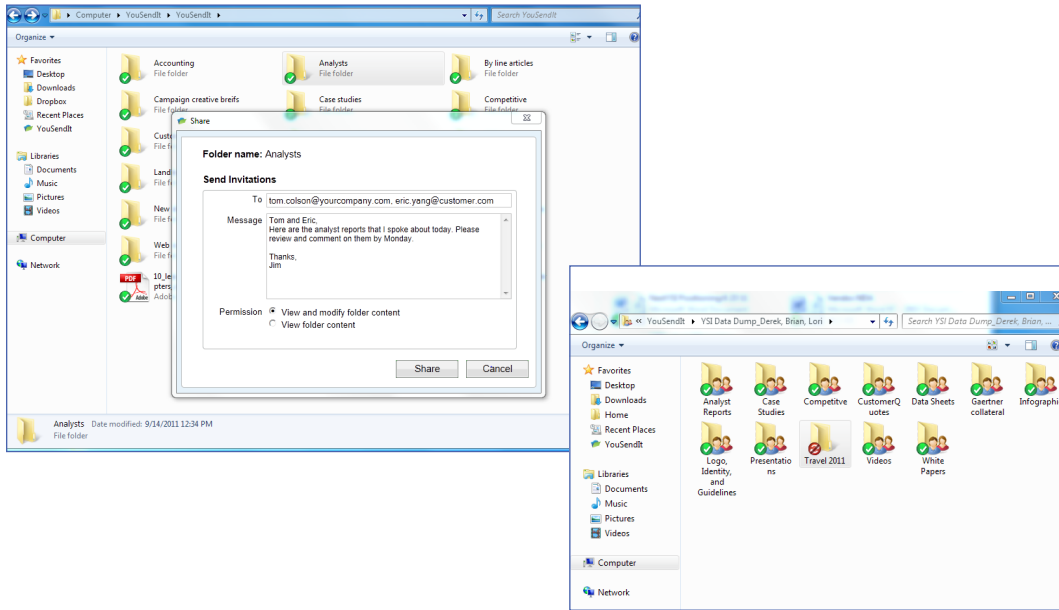

Many files are simply too large for standard email. YouSendIt simplifies the process. Just upload files or folders up to 2GB and send. You'll never get a bounce-back because you've exceeded a recipient's mailbox limits.

YouSendIt integrates with widely used applications like Microsoft Outlook, Microsoft Office, Adobe Acrobat and Photoshop, Final Cut Pro, iPhoto and Aperture, so your team and customers don't have to adjust the way they normally work. Begin collaborating right from the application in which you're working.

Share and sync everything

Share files and folders with business partners inside and outside your company with drag and drop ease. Get the security and control you need by setting access and edit permissions.

Simplified and integrated IT environment

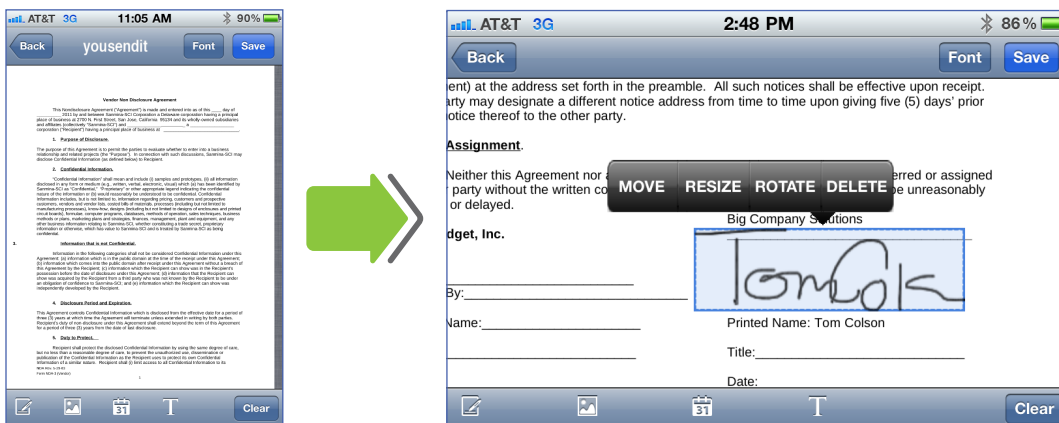

Most IT departments need to support both on-premises and SaaS collaboration solutions. User adoption and limiting the burden on IT hinges on these two models co-existing securely and efficiently.

YouSendIt supports native integration with email and collaboration systems such as Microsoft Outlook and its Activity Directory and Sharepoint. By integrating with these solutions YouSendIt ensures that IT can deliver a streamlined user experience, provide security controls and easily manage both on-premises and cloud collaboration environments.

Your team will be able to access and modify files and folders from anywhere. And to ensure that the latest version of your content is always available, YouSendIt continuously synchronizes content between the Web, desktop, and mobile devices.

Sign documents on the go to close deals quickly

Never again print a document to sign it, then scan or fax it. With YouSendIt you can annotate documents, easily apply secure e-signatures and send them no matter where you are from a mobile device, the Web or the desktop without using a third-party solution.

YouSendIt's Directory Service Connector integrates with Microsoft Active Directory to centralize user and group account set-up and provisioning - whether the employee uses a PC, Mac, mobile device or accesses the service outside the corporate firewall. YouSendIt enables secure authentication and integrates with any existing password policy, including single sign-on and user identification during the set-up process.

Easily sign documents from your mobile device using your touchscreen.

Unlimited storage with unlimited access

Securely store an unlimited amount of content in the cloud and access it when you need it from the Web, desktop or mobile device. Brand your YouSendIt folder by applying your company's logo.

Enterprise-ready security

Enforce the highest level of security by setting password policies for receipt or accessing files, expiration setting for files, as well as allowing and disallowing users. YouSendIt's data centers have obtained a SOC 2 Type 2 attestation. Data at rest is secured using AES 256-bit encryption, using 128-bit SSL encryption with Class 3 certificates.

An integrated solution

YouSendIt provides the first business content collaboration service to offer an integrated approach for sending, sharing, storing and signing files online. Secure, easy-to-use, and accessible from anywhere on any device, YouSendIt enables your company to be more productive and reduce costs associated with collaborating on business content.
